Place the given product naturally in the model's hand, ensuring it is held realistically with correct grip and proportions. Position the product so that its shadow falls accurately onto the white shape beneath it. Replace the existing text at the bottom with text relevant to the specific product, using appropriate typography and branding. Update the background to match the product's theme by incorporating colors inspired by the product or its packaging, creating a visually appealing and cohesive composition. If applicable, research the product's official worldwide branding and website, and include the correct official website in the design. Ensure every element is professionally aligned, highly realistic, and consistent with premium commercial advertising standards. The final image should be ultra-photorealistic, studio-quality, with realistic lighting, natural shadows, sharp details, premium textures, and rendered in 4K ultra-high resolution.
